

Teaching Skills for Global Goals

/ Workshops for Secondary School
Teachers

BOLOGNA 28/10

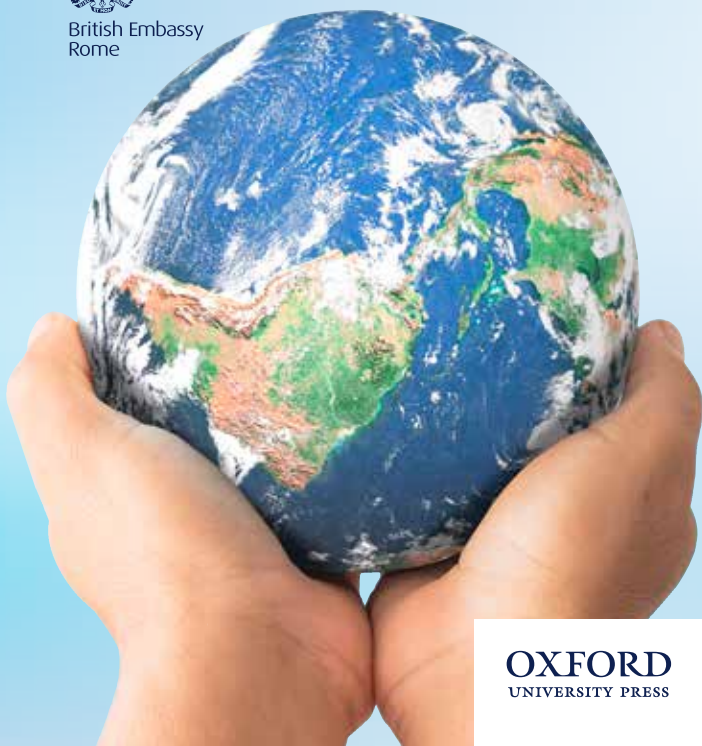

Istituti di Istruzione Superiore Aldini Valeriani
Via Sario Bassanelli 9/11, Bologna

REGISTER ONLINE AT WWW.OUP.COM/ELT/EVENTS

with the patronage of:

British Embassy
Rome

OXFORD
UNIVERSITY PRESS

Teaching Skills for Global Goals

/ PLUS

Special Invitation to participate in the Read On! National Competition
“2020 VISION: Read > Think > Act”

BOLOGNA

Monday 28/10

PROGRAMME

Registration and book display from 14:45

- 15:15 ■ Welcome and Introductions
Marcus Mattia, OUP Educational Consultant
- 15:30 ■ Simple Language for Complex Problems
Michael Lacey Freeman
- 16:15 ■ Coffee Break
- 16:45 ■ Project Work using Oxford Graded Readers
Michael Lacey Freeman
- 17:30 ■ Read On! National Competition
“2020 VISION: Read > Think > Act”
- 18:00 ■ Closing Comments

Oxford University Press is pleased to invite you to this important and timely teacher training event. Michael Lacey Freeman, award-winning author and Board Member of the Extensive Reading Foundation, will talk about how simple, graded language can be used to address critical global issues. He will lead an interactive session demonstrating how Oxford graded readers can provide the starting point for individual and class projects, and present a series of practical, ready-to-use activities to motivate students to read. Critical thinking, fact-checking and presentation skills will be discussed in the context of an invitation to participate in an Italy-wide video competition, “2020 Vision: Read > Think > Act”, in which students will be encouraged to think about actions they can take to make the world a better place. Although the competition is organised as part of the Read On! Extensive Reading Project, ALL secondary classes in Italy may participate. The competition has been organised with the kind patronage of the British Embassy in Rome.

REGISTER ONLINE AT WWW.OUP.COM/ELT/EVENTS

Esonero Ministeriale riconosciuto. Participation is free of charge.

For more information:

marcus.mattia@oup.com 348.333.691.3
or contact your local Rizzoli Education agent.

OXFORD
UNIVERSITY PRESS

Rizzoli
EDUCATION